

PROTECTION AND NONDESTRUCTIVE ANNOTATION OF DOCUMENTS

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A transparent sheet is laid over a document so as to protect the document, and to enable a user to annotate the document nondestructively. The transparent sheet is preferably affixed to the document by a repositionable adhesive. The transparent sheet could also be placed over a sign, or other surface, so as to create, annotate, or modify the sign. The transparent sheet may be obtained from a pad of such sheets, held together by adhesive. By writing or printing on the transparent sheet, and by superimposing the sheet over a document, a supervisor can communicating comments and/or corrections to the person who created the document, without mutilation of the document.